The Vietnam Swans

The Vietnam Swans recently had the tough job of hosting Miss Australia for a day, on her visit to Vietnam for the Miss World contest.

Thanks to BlueInk Asia for their superb jumper design!

Forging the National Identity

In 2007, the Vietnam Swans were at a very formative and vulnerable stage. In mid 2008, the bond between the players in Hanoi and Saigon is amazing. None of the players talk about "Saigon" or "Hanoi". A truly national identity is being formed. This is so important as it gives us two cities to draw players from for international matches - which means that we can have more matches (this is good news for sponsors like Linfox and Loscam who have operations in other countries. Earlier in the year we played a match in Malaysia for the Linfox-Loscam Cup). The level of enthusiasm is high as players feel like we are playing for a National, rather than a hybrid, team.

Now that we have proven momentum, we have commenced implementing a formal organizational structure to lock in the gains and prepare the foundation for the next step. City Committees have now been elected in both Saigon and Hanoi. An overarching National Committee will have been elected by the time this article goes to press.
